From the desk of the pastor...

In the whole city of Jerusalem, the Temple was the pride of every Jewish person, the source of inspiration for every young Israelite; the most sacred place where every pious Jew could experience God's special presence and favour.

For a time, the people of Judah learned to put their trust in the living and all-holy God, rather than in buildings. They learned that what matters most in the eyes of God is the "heart" of man - what he chooses and what he rejects, what he treasures and what he despises.

But, pride blinded them again. They did not recognize the Lord's visitation and they rejected the messiah of God. For this, the Temple and the whole of Jerusalem, which were reconstructed after so many years, were reduced to rubble and ashes by the Roman army.

Jesus foresaw it with tearful sadness. But more than over material buildings, he wept over all those who failed to set their hearts on the values of God's kingdom.

Only those who choose and treasure God and His will can count on His protection. They become His living Temple. Even when their earthly Jerusalem – what they hold most dear and sacred on earth – is torn down, they are able to find consolation in the thought that the enduring and more splendid Jerusalem is the one that awaits them in heaven. That is where they belong.

Persecutions of many kinds may strike fiercely those who have vowed their hearts to Christ. As long as they do their best to live up to their commitment, the Lord will never forsake them.

Such are the truths and corresponding attitudes that we should treasure when we reflect on the passing splendour of this earth, and the inevitable end that will come for everything that is temporal.

It is up to us to transform an inevitable end into the beginning of an endless fulfillment.

- Fr. Luis
