From the desk of the pastor...

The Lord has been tremendously generous with each of us. But, in spite of the great abundance of God’s gifts, most of us try to have even more and to acquire new ones. We are prepared to work hard, make big sacrifices and even renounce a portion of what we already have, in order to acquire what we consider more valuable and deserving.

But in this pursuit, we are always in danger of losing out, or being deceived by appearances Many of us have an inadequate sense of values. Our priorities are sometimes mistaken. We invest our energies and even stake our whole lives on things that “moth and rust corrode, or thieves break in and steal” (Mt 6:19). And so, at the end of our life, we find ourselves empty-handed, or with mounds of things that are totally valueless for the life to come.

We need real wisdom. Not just the wisdom “to distinguish right from wrong” (1 Kgs 3:9), but the wisdom that is needed to prioritize values and give to the highest ones the place they deserve. We need the “wisdom of God,” the one possessed in full by Jesus. We need the wisdom that leads us to give absolute priority to “God’s Kingship and His way of holiness” (Mt 6:33).

There have been people in the past and there are so many at present, who do not take the values of the Kingdom and they even doubt or refuse to believe that it exists at all! These are the people whose god is their belly and who boast of actions they should be ashamed of ... (See Phil 3:19.)

On the opposite side of the scale are the saints. They cling at all times, cling to the virtues as most valuable treasures, even if others laugh at them or call them “crazy” and “deranged.” The saints smile at all these, for they know that “He laughs best who laughs last.”

- Fr. Luis
