From the desk of the pastor...

Jesus puts his disciples into a crisis when he asks them to feed the hungry crowds. He is not willing to send them away hungry, they have listened to him, he has cured the sick. Now it is the disciples' turn to do something for the crowds. They too, must show compassion to them. The disciples argue that they have nothing except five loaves of bread and a couple of fish.

Jesus asks for the bread and the fish, prays over them, says the blessing and breaks the bread. Then he gives the bread to his disciples for distribution.

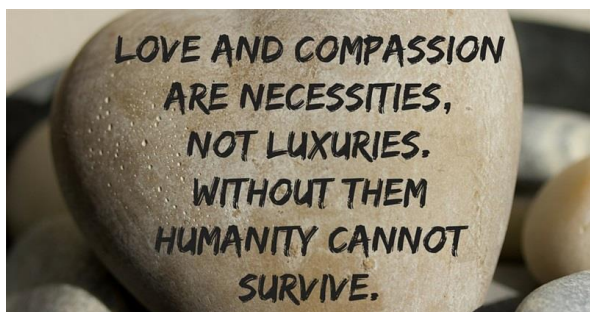

We cannot imagine how the bread is multiplied. We do not know what happens to the fish, but the disciples are able to give food to the crowds. They too, show compassion for the people. They are not just Jesus' disciples or his companions to protect him, they are empowered to do more.

Discipleship is not a matter of just listening to Jesus. It is also distributing the graces and blessings from Jesus to those whom he intends to give.

If you are a compassionate disciple, Jesus will give you something to distribute. You will not run out of supplies.

Trust God and use your creativity.

- Fr. Luis
